

Just Change Q & A

What kind of projects will be involved?

All projects are powered by local people from low-income communities. Projects include:

- local food cooperatives
- locally owned savings and loan pools
- leadership courses for Māori women
- whānau camps to promote positive family connections
- ageing well networks for vulnerable older people.

What are you looking for in a donor?

We're looking for people who are excited by learning and new ways of doing things, who care about social change, and value open conversations with people from other communities.

What kind of financial commitment is being asked?

The suggested contribution is between $2,000 and $15,000 per year for an initial period of two years.

How involved do you want us to be?

Whatever suits you is fine. Some donors may also wish to offer their skills and expertise to projects, and we hope that many donors will want to attend quarterly reporting and learning circles, but it is also fine to stay in the background or even be anonymous if you prefer.

Who's behind this?

Just Change is an initiative of Te Hiko, the Centre for Community Innovation based at Wesley Community Action. Te Hiko supports and incubates locally led community innovation.
